DCYRs Awarded Young Republican State Federation of the Year

DC Young Republicans also win award for Outstanding Club Newsletter

July 19th, 2010, Washington, DC- On Saturday night, the District of Columbia Young Republicans (DCYRs) were selected by the Young Republican National Federation (YRNF) Awards Committee as the 2010 Outstanding State Federation and also received the award for 2010 Club Newsletter of the Year.

Awards were presented during the cumulating Gala for the YRNF's biennial Young Republican Leadership Conference (YRLC). The four-day Conference, featuring speakers such as Senate Minority Leader Mitch McConnell, House Republican Whip Eric Cantor, RNC Chairman Michael Steele, and Political Commentators such as SE Cupp, concluded on Saturday night with an address by Rep. Thad McCotter of Michigan and the presentation of awards to the organization's most successful clubs.

"Tonight the efforts of our board and our members were recognized for their outstanding achievements throughout the past 12 months. Our efforts to show the country that the GOP is the best party for our generation have been extremely well received. Our large-scale deployments to New Jersey for Chris Christie, Virginia for Bob McDonnell, Massachusetts for Scott Brown and Pennsylvania for Tim Burns have been a huge success, and have mirrored the recent triumphs of the Republican Party." – DCYRs Chairman Rich Counts

"Tonight's award marks a great achievement for DC Republicans and is emblematic of the great things happening with the Republican Party here in the District. We are excited about riding this wave of success to Republican victories in the 2010 elections." – DCYRs Executive Vice Chair Brittney McKinney

The Young Republican National Federation is the oldest political youth organization in the United States. It's DC Chapter, The DC Young Republicans (DCYRs) is an organization of individuals between the ages of 18 and 40 committed to supporting Republican causes in the nation's capital.
